IRAN PROMISES TO EXPEL NAZIS IF WAR STOPS; JAPANESE AMBASSADOR WILL CALL ON HULL

Fire Company Will Form As Unit in Second Ward; Possible Site Is Selected

Pumper Now at Cornell Will Go to Station
on Foxhall Avenue
Under New Plan.

Offer Is Made

Board Reveals Proposal to Use Garage Space
at Gellner Shop

Decision to establish a volunteer fire company in the Second ward was made Tuesday evening when the Board of Fire Commissioners met with Mayor C. J. Heiselman at the Central Fire Station. The establishing of a volunteer fire company is in accordance with the long-term plan for the improvement of the fire department formulated by the city authorities last year.

The fire commissioners have an offer to rent a garage in the rear of the Gellner paint shop on Foxhall avenue, near Albany avenue, as a fire station at a monthly rental of $15 and this building will be carefully examined and the offer given consideration.

Although no definite action has been taken it is expected that the present Central Hook & Ladder Company at the Central Fire Station will be assigned to the new proposed fire station, but the company will not use a hook and ladder.

The American LaFrance fire truck will be housed in the new fire station. This is a 750-gallon pumper which is now at the Cornell Station on Abel street, and which will be replaced by the new Mack truck when it arrives later in the year.

This pumper was the first ever purchased by the city and was bought in 1915. Upon the arrival and acceptance of the new Mack fire truck the fire company will have the motor of the 1915 American LaFrance truck thoroughly overhauled and then placed in the new station where several members of the volunteer fire company will be trained to operate it.

To Get New Name

In case the Central Hooks are assigned to the new fire station a new name will be assigned to the company as it will no longer be a hook and ladder company.

The fire board pointed out last night that a large majority of the city's fire apparatus was stationed on the east side of the railroad tracks in the lower part of the city, and listed as being on the east side the Central Station, Cornell Station, Rapid Hose, Cordis Hose, Union Hose and Twaalfskil Hose.

On the uptown side of the railroad tracks there are only two stations, the Wiltwycks and the Excelsiors.

With the great increase in buildings in recent years in the residential areas west of the railroad it has become necessary to have more fire fighting apparatus ready for use in the uptown area.

Trains Are Longer

This has become increasingly necessary because of the length of freight trains being operated over the West Shore railroad. In recent months, powerful new locomotives

Gasoline Stations In State Running Out of Fuel Supply

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 27 (AP)—Many gasoline stations in New York either ran out of fuel or reported supplies nearing exhaustion today as result of the federal order cutting August quotas.

Hundreds of operators were limiting the amount to individuals in an effort to keep at least a small supply until allowed to draw on their September quotas Saturday preparatory to the Labor Day week-end travel.

Typical of the situation in many cities was that in Schenectady where a survey of major dealers disclosed one was limiting sales to three gallons to a customer, another five gallons and another three gallons to out-of-state drivers. Five dealers reported supplies nearly exhausted. Several others said they were closing earlier than 7 p. m. deadline requested by Secretary of the Interior Ickes.

In Rochester, automobile accessory stores noted a brisk demand for gasoline tank caps equipped with locks from drivers taking no chances on siphoning of their supplies.

Buffalo distributors said they expected to be able to meet demands the rest of the week.

Gasoline prices have been increased from a half to a cent in many communities.

Water Mains Will Now Be Extended On Fourth Avenue

Residents Had Complained of Lack of Water—82
Births, 50 Deaths
During July

Tuesday afternoon the water board at its meeting decided to extend the city's water mains through Fourth avenue where several houses were without city water, and that night the Board of Health at its monthly meeting adopted a resolution approving the action of the Board of Water Commissioners in ordering a water main installed in that street.

The health board in its resolution, which was unanimously adopted, called attention to the fact that several residents of Fourth avenue had complained to the board that there was no city water in Fourth avenue to supply their homes, and that upon investigation it was found that the water supply in cisterns on that street was low and of questionable sanitary quality.

Because of this condition the residents of Fourth avenue were compelled to carry city water for domestic use for a considerable distance, and the health board found the complaints made to be justifiable ones.

Births Increase

The report of the registrar of vital statistics, Miss Mildred Schwab, which was filed with the board showed that during July there had been 82 births in the city as compared with a total of 50 deaths.

Dr. L. E. Sanford, health officer, reported that health conditions were good and that while there were some cases of whooping cough there were no cases of scarlet fever or infantile paralysis in the city.

No New Rabies

Dr. Sanford said that since the quarantine for rabies among dogs had been imposed there had been six cases reported in Kingston. The last case reported was on July 6. Since then no new cases have been recorded here.

Sanitary Inspector Shultis reported that during the summer he had made regular inspections and tests of the water in the wading pools in the city's parks and had found everything satisfactory. He said that so far this season no complaints had been received.

Dr. Sanford reported the following communicable diseases in the city during July:

Body of Youth Drowned Last Night Is Brought Up Near St. Remy Today

Charles Fred is Unable to Swim Across Creek
Young Friend

The body of Charles Fred, 21, of Newburgh, who was drowned in deep water above the Eddyville dam, while swimming there last evening, was recovered shortly after 11 o'clock this morning by Donald Shader of South Manor avenue and Henry Riggins of Eddyville. The body was found in the neighborhood where Fred was reported to have gone down, near the St. Remy shore. Coroner Frank J. McCordie was notified.

In addition to Shader and Riggins a considerable force resumed the work of dragging for the body this morning, including Corporal Baker and Trooper Klein of New Paltz, Lieut. Fred Stout of the Kingston police department and Deputy Sheriffs Vredenburg, Segelken and Tinnie.

Last night deputies from the sheriff's office, members of the Central Hudson emergency crew, Port Ewen fire department, Kingston Power Boat Association and of the Kingston fire department worked until 1 o'clock this morning grappling for the body. Young Fred was a vacationist at Carl's Cabins near Rosendale.

Although four boat crews, with grappling irons, searched the entire section in the neighborhood of the dam, they were unable to locate the body last night.

Had Hold of Hair

Deputy Sheriff Vredenburg, who with Deputy McCullough answered the call to the sheriff's office shortly before 7 o'clock, found that Fred, with others staying at the Carl cabins and Charles Koch of

Hitler Frustrated In One Objective Of Soviet Invasion

Persian Resistance to Anglo-Russian Moves
Has Borne Earmarks of Token Variety

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
(Freeman Special News Service)

Thus far the Iranian (Persian) "resistance" to the Anglo-Russian invasion has borne the earmarks of being largely of the token variety, that is, a display calculated to be realistic enough to provide an excuse to the Nazis but not sufficiently serious to impede the occupation.

In any event, armed opposition by the Persians now would appear to be too late, since the allies already have occupied the strategic positions and reportedly safeguarded the vital oil supplies. Thus Herr Hitler has been frustrated in one of the objectives of his Russian invasion—the seizure of Persia, a mountain-peak from which he could see vast portions of the riches of the earth.

It is an interesting commentary on the stoic Russian view of present cataclysm in which it is involved that Communist Chief Stalin has found time, while invading Iran and maintaining a back-to-the-wall defense against the Hitlerites, to rebuke another potential enemy—Japan. Stalin has notified Tokyo that the Soviet will regard it as an unfriendly act if Nippon interferes with the shipment of American war supplies through Vladivostok.

The Red leader either is a colossal bluffer or he has the utmost confidence in his ability to defend Russia's interests. In view of the amazing resistance which the Bolsheviks have made to the Nazi invasion, he would seem to have a right to feel a very considerable degree of assurance. Certainly Japan is heavily armed in the Far East.

Most Bloody Battles

Meanwhile two of the most sanguinary battles of the whole war—the sieges of Leningrad and Odessa—are raging with increasing fury toward climax. The fighting is especially fierce in the Leningrad area, where the Nazis are pressing forward over terrain made heavy by rains. The Moscow Pravda, Communist party organ, says the Germans have been compelled to bring up reinforcements to fill the gaps in their ranks caused by tremendous losses.

Here the people's army is fighting side by side with the regular Red forces in defense of their beloved city. A third reserve army, comprising both men and women, is training after working hours to be able to do its part when the tide comes close to this ancient capital of the czar which is the birthplace of the Bolshevik revolution of 1917 and so the heart of Communistic Russia.

Hitler is throwing his manpower against the Russian defense with that traditional German determination which doesn't allow loss of life to stand in the way of success. There is no doubt that the Fuehrer's forces have been getting a terrible bleeding in their Russian adventure, and this is bound to have a profound effect on the progress of the war.

British Premier Churchill in his broadcast Sunday called attention in his graphic language to the great drain on German manpower.

"For the first time Nazi blood has flowed in fearful flood," he said. "Perhaps a million of Nazi half, perhaps two million of Nazi cannon fodder have bit the dust of the endless plains of Russia."

Those figures seem to conform to the estimates of most military experts. The only official German figures are those which acknowledge that 218,440 men were put out of action before the Russian invasion, and that was in the period when the Nazis were overrunning Europe will-nilly with comparatively small losses. If we say that the German casualties since the start of the European war are upward of 2,000,000, it can scarcely be an overestimate, if the calculations of observers are near right.

The total strength of the German army, including the older men, has been figured at between 5,000,000 and 8,000,000. Probably 5,000,000 represented the absolute cream at the outset. The two million or so casualties (and Moscow estimates that a million have been killed in the Russian war alone), undoubtedly represent shock troops which cannot be replaced until more boys come of fighting age and have had long training to fit them for what Churchill describes as "cannon fodder."

Such losses cannot continue without telling heavily on the German strength. And with the growing power of the allies we may expect that the fighting will be bloody from now on to the end.

Russians Destroying Tallinn

British and Soviet Transmit Iranian
Plea to Their Respective Governments
To Visit Hull

Purpose of Nomura's
Visit to Hull Is Not Disclosed

The Iran government made a formal plea to cease the war by guaranteeing to expel virtually all Germans within a week. British and Soviet ministers transmitted the plea to their governments.

Japanese ambassador makes appointment with Secretary of State Hull today but there was no immediate information as to purpose.

Giant walls of streaking flames over Tallinn, capital of Estonia, indicate Russians were destroying city and presumably getting ready to escape by sea.

To Call on Hull

Washington, Aug. 27 (AP)—Admiral Kichisaburo Nomura, the Japanese ambassador, made an appointment with Secretary of State Hull today, close on the heels of Tokyo reports that shipments of American war supplies to Russia were irritating the Japanese.

There was no immediate information as to the purpose of the ambassador's call on Hull.

The Japanese news agency, Domei, had reported from Tokyo earlier, however, that the Japanese government had made representations to the United States and Russia against shipment of American aviation gasoline to the Russian port of Vladivostok.

The Soviet government also had let it be known that it had informed Japan that it would regard as "an unfriendly act" any attempt by Japan to interfere with "normal trade relations between the Soviet Union and the United States via Far Eastern Soviet ports."

Nomura's appointment was made while Hull was conferring with the Soviet ambassador, Constantine Oumansky.

Oumansky refused to indicate in any way the subject of his conference with Hull.

Plea to End War

Teheran, Iran, Aug. 26 (Tuesday, delayed) (AP)—The British and Soviet ministers, after an audience with the Shah, have transmitted to their governments an Iranian plea that the war cease and a guarantee that virtually all Germans would be expelled from the country within a week, it was reported reliably today.

A few Germans in "indispensable technical posts" would be kept for a while until substitutes could be trained to take their places, under the reported offer.

Premier Ali Mansur in a 10-minute address before Parliament charged that the Russians were bombing "open, undefended towns" in Azerbaijan province along the

Machinists Name I. A. of M. as Agent

A. F. of L. Affiliate Is Choice of Workers at Electrol, Inc. Plant

Machinists at the Apollo Magnet division of Electrol, Inc., on Grand street, on Tuesday named the International Association of Machinists, and American Federation of Labor affiliate, as the exclusive bargaining agent. The election was held under the supervision of the National Labor Relations Board, which was represented by H. Dishner.

The vote to unite with the union was 169 for while 31 voted against any union. There were 223 employees eligible to vote, and of that number 201 voted.

Those who served as watchers for the concern at the polls were P. Terpening, paymaster of the company, and C. T. Harper, planning engineer, while those acting for the union were Fred H. Cooney, grand lodge representative of the International Association of Machinists, and George F. Kessler, recording secretary of Ulster County Lodge No. 1562.

Yesterday's election followed by several weeks the organization of the local lodge, which was granted its charter on August 4.

Mr. Cooney said today that a closed meeting of the union would be held Thursday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock for those who worked on the night shift, and at 8 o'clock that evening for those on the day shift. At this meeting various proposals, he said, would be considered and if adopted, submitted to the Electrol, Inc.

He said that he did not anticipate any trouble between the union and the company.

Gives Up Car

Anthony Argenio Declares
He Will Perform His Errands on Foot

Buffalo, N. Y., Aug. 27 (AP)—Anthony Argenio locked his car in the garage and given up the keys and license plates with the resolution "if this country needs gasoline in its national defense program I'll perform my daily errands on foot."

Argenio, of Italian parentage, asserted he would resort to no subterfuge, adding:

"I'll not use roller skates, bicycles, nor scooter, or perhaps I'll even decline the invitation of friends to ride in their automobiles."

He turned the keys and license plates over to the Courier-Express for safekeeping last night and said the car would remain in the garage "at least until the 1942 plates are attached and longer, if necessary, should the government still call for gasoline conservation."

Kingston Home Building Last Year Hit Second Highest Volume Level in 11 Years

Minneapolis, Aug. 27—Home building in Kingston last year reached the second highest volume level in 11 years, D. E. Ryan, vice-president of Investors Syndicate, revealed here today.

There were 8,618 dwelling units in Kingston on April 1, 1940, according to the U. S. Bureau of Census. Of these 28, or only 3.3 per cent, figures made available for the first time by Investors Syndicate indicate, were built between January 1, 1931 and March 31, 1940.

"Kingston," said Mr. Ryan, in commenting on home building in 22 New York cities, "provided new homes in 1940 for 204 people, a gain of 44, or 27.5 per cent, over 1939, when new homes were built for 160 persons. Last year new housing was provided for 40 more persons (24.4 per cent) than the 164 total in 1930."

"Population in Kingston, according to the 1940 census, rose from 28,088 in 1930 to 28,589 in 1940, a gain of 501, or 1.8 per cent. From 1931 to 1940, inclusive, homes put up in Kingston furnished new housing for 1,324 people.

"Our company's housing survey of 310 cities, containing about 38 per cent of the nation's population, shows last year's home construction in Kingston ranked 13th in New York.

"Kingston ranked 15th in the state in number of homes built in the years 1931 to 1940, inclusive."

The Investors Syndicate survey shows new homes put up in 1940 represented 16.7 per cent of total residence construction in Kingston in the 10 year period. Volume peak of 208 came in 1931, while the low was in 1934, when only 64 people were furnished with new shelter.

Valuations Advance in Year

"Residences erected in Kingston last year were valued at $201,900, a gain of $27,900, or 16 per cent, over the 1939 level of $174,000. New home expenditures in 1940 were $15,900, or 7.3 per cent, lower than the 1930 total of $217,800.

From 1931 to 1940, inclusive, such valuations aggregated $1,523,288. The 1940 new home valuations held 14th place in New York; their position for the 1931-1940 period was sixteenth.

"Last year's valuations constitute 13.3 per cent of new home values created in the 1931-1940 period. Peak of new home values, $232,400, was reached in 1931, while the low, $68,800, was hit in 1934."

"Kingston's 1940 per-person new home cost ranked fifteenth in New York; the 10 year average held eighth place in the state.

"The cost peak, $1,505.55, was reached in 1935, while the low, $989.70, was hit in 1940."

Iran's Navy Gone

Small Navy Is Virtually Wiped Out and Admiral Is Among Killed

London, Aug. 27 (AP)—Iran's small navy has been virtually wiped out by British war vessels and Iranian Admiral Baydard killed leading a counter-attack, Reuters reported from Simla, India, today.

The news agency said two sloops were sunk and four gunboats captured by the British in an encounter apparently in the Persian Gulf. A depot ship, two tugs and a floating dock capable of taking a 6,000-ton ship also were captured, Reuters said, while the British suffered no naval loss.

The Iranian navy consisted of two sloops of 950 tons each, carrying guns of three and four inches, six gunboats; three patrol boats, tugs and motor launches, all were built by Italy except one gunboat, the Shahin, a converted German minesweeper bought in 1923.

The navy consisted of 850 officers and men. The sloops carried 85 men each and the gunboats 44.

U. S. Mission to Chungking Gives Japan Tangible Proof Of No Change in Our Attitude

Washington, Aug. 27 (AP)—The United States, by announcing a military mission to Chungking, gave Japan tangible proof today that this country intended no change in its attitude toward the so-called China incident.

The announcement that the mission would depart in two weeks also was apparent calculated to reassure the government of Chiang Kai-Shek that the lease-lend program would continue unchanged in its effort to supply China with the sinews of modern war.

When Prime Minister Churchill, in his speech Sunday, mentioned that the United States was negotiating with Japan in hopes of "a fair and amicable settlement" in the Orient, uneasy fears were voiced in Chungking that some sort of an appeasement deal might be under discussion.

Secretary of State Hull acted promptly to dispel such reports, explaining to his press conference Monday that existing conversations with Japan were of an informal character. Any far eastern settlement, he said, would have to be based on the fundamental principles long asserted by the United States—non-recognition of aggression and respect for international law.

President Roosevelt further hit the appeasement reports yesterday when he disclosed that he was about to send a military mission to the battered Chinese capital at Chungking.

The phrasing of the official announcement led some to believe that closer coordination was planned in the moves of forces opposed to Japanese expansion in the Orient.

Brigadier General John Magruder was named as the head of the mission.

Talking on lease-lend topic, President Roosevelt at his press conference yesterday voiced sharp denunciation of the organized campaign which he said was being waged to sabotage the assistance program.

Mr. Roosevelt charged that the campaign was being furthered by the spreading rumors, distortions and falsehoods.

The question was raised when the President was asked for comment on reports of the misuse of lease-lend funds intended to help finance war aid to England and China. One report mentioned that a British mission here had run up a huge bill at a Washington restaurant.

In a stern mood, Mr. Roosevelt said it was absurd to make general allegations because they were not true. It was only fair, he continued, for the press to say that such stories were rumors, distortions, or plain dirty lies.

To Collect Old Blades

Atlantic City, N. J., Aug. 27 (AP)—The problem of what to do with old razor blades was tentatively solved today by the Foresters of America. The fraternity resolved that its annual convention, that old blades should be collected by the organization's national officers and turned over to the federal government to help cope with the steel shortage.

The lodge's 250,000 members were asked to gather up their old blades immediately.

New York, Aug. 27 (AP)—Aided by a judicious distribution of small buying orders the stock market took another step along the recovery path today.

The lift had no special vigor, but prices held a fairly even line after a higher opening, and in a few instances gains widened in late proceedings. Rails, coppers, and some aircrafts, motors, rubbers, and specialties accounted for many fractional advances near the final hour. Dealings, at a slow pace throughout, ran at the rate of around 400,000 shares.

A good deal of the limited bidding, brokers said, was prompted by the list's stability in recent sessions in face of outside news notably lacking bullish inspiration. During the market's long stalemate since the latter part of July, it was pointed out, there had been few signs that holders of stocks generally were seeking to unload.

Commodities continued to push ahead and bonds developed a better demand.

Tending toward improvement the greater part of the time were Bethlehem Steel, Chrysler, Goodrich, U. S. Rubber, Boeing, Sperry, Kennecott, American Smelting, Johns-Manville, Chesapeake & Ohio, Great Northern Pfd. and Texas Corp.

Camp Happyland Group Entertains

Children Also Hear Talk by Judge Fowler

Members of the Ulster County Committee on Tuberculosis and Public Health and several friends were guest of the children of Camp Happyland Monday evening.

Fred Van Deusen was present and performed his many tricks of magic. The adults as well as the children were greatly mystified and charmed by this performance. Following Mr. Van Deusen, the girls gave the operetta, "Pinafore." Scenery appropriate to the setting was painted by the children and showed a real work of art. The performance was much appreciated by those present and proved that the dramatic as well as physical training at camp had shown favorable results.

Following the playlette, Miss Katherine M. Murphy, director, introduced Judge Joseph M. Fowler, the president of the committee, who spoke to the children. He thanked Mr. Van Deusen for the interest he takes each year in Camp Happyland and felt his entertainment was enjoyed by the youngsters as well as the youngsters. He likened the work of the magician to the accomplishment at Camp Happyland. He said, "Christmas Seals had made it possible for 46 girls to come to camp on August 1. Today these 46 girls show 202½ pounds that were not present on August 1—this represents the gain made by the children in three weeks. Their color was changed from white to pink, red and brown. This all looked like magic to him and he thought the magician staff had done a good job in making this possible. Judge Fowler advised the children to carry on their health program after they had returned to their homes.

Because of the great stress now placed on proper nutrition needed in the civil defense program, much

French Block Off Ward And Continue Arrests

Paris, German-occupied France, Aug. 26 (Delayed) (AP)—French police, proceeding systematically house by house, today blocked off a large section of the fourth arrondissement (ward)—a workers' district around city hall—and took into custody a number of persons described as Jews and communists.

All residents in the area, which lies along the River Seine, were required to remain inside their homes and submit identification papers to the police.

(This raid followed others in two Paris arrondissements last week—the 11th and 20th—in which more than 10,000 persons were arrested.)

The first of German-occupied France's new courts "for unmerciful repression of communist activities" started functioning, meanwhile, in the Palace of Justice. A special panel of judges from the Paris Court of Appeals was named to direct speedy trials with power to order imprisonment or death.

A LOAD ON ALL OF OUR MINDS

The other day I was thinking of the importance of uninterrupted transportation service in our defense efforts and here are some facts that I'd like to impress on every shipper of freight in our community.

With freight cars so important today—in transporting our huge defense materials, as well as tremendously increased non-defense commodities—it's up to all of us to coordinate our efforts for greatest possible freight efficiency.

Here's one important contribution you can make in this National Emergency—increase the average tonnage for every car you ship.

To illustrate just what happens when you do this, I want to pass on to you some mighty interesting figures I've just received.

In June of this year the tonnage of L. C. L. shipments over the Central increased 52% above June, 1940. More efficient loading enabled us to carry this largely increased tonnage with 21,707 fewer cars than would have been required if average loading per car had been the same as in June last year. Actually this step-up in efficiency meant freeing 21,707 additional Central freight cars for the movement of vital defense materials . . . in one month alone.

I believe you'll all agree that this is an encouraging figure. It proves we're working out our problems together. And it's a striking example of the real contribution you can make to National Defense when you increase the average tonnage for every car you ship.

*L. C. L.—less car load . . . small shipments which do not fulfill the minimum car-load weight requirement.

Germany Reports Killing 40,000 Reds in Battle

Berlin, Aug. 27—The German high command announced today that it had annihilated the 22nd Russian army in a pincer encirclement far behind the most advanced lines, killing more than 40,000 Russians and capturing another 30,000 in an unusually bloody battle lasting for several days.

The battle occurred, the Germans said, on the north central front between Smolensk and Lake Ilmen, and resulted in the capture of the town of Velikie Luki, which lies a full 275 miles west of Moscow and 250 miles south of Leningrad.

The text of the announcement said: "In fighting lasting several days between Smolensk and Lake Ilmen the mass of the 22nd Soviet army was encircled and annihilated east of Velikie Luki.

"The town of Velikie Luki was taken after fierce fighting. More than 30,000 prisoners and 400 guns fell into our hands. Uncommonly high bloody losses of the enemy are stated at more than 40,000 men killed."

(The previously reported front as established by reports from both sides has run through the vicinity of Novogorod, 150 miles north of Velikie Luki, and Vyazma, 150 miles east. Today's report indicates the Germans have straightened out a deep bend in their lines on this central front, important in the drives both on Moscow and Leningrad.)

FIRE PREVENTION WEEK

Each year in October, Fire Prevention Week is observed by proclamation of the President of the United States. It is a call on the citizens of this country to reduce loss of life and property by fire.

That week is always important. This year, with the country engaged in the greatest defense drive in all history—a drive which means that a large part of the human and material resources of this country must be turned to the gigantic task of making us militarily impregnable—the week is a hundred times more important still. It has been said many times, and it should be said many times again, that fire is the enemy of defense. Fire is the waster, the implacable destroyer of time, of human effort, of life, of resources. Fire fights against the swift production of airplanes and cannons and battle-ships and tanks. Fire fights against the nation's safety.

In the past years, it has often happened that fire losses have gone down during the week and the period immediately following, only to rise sharply thereafter. In other words, we Americans have had short memories. The lessons learned during the week were quickly forgotten, and we relapsed into our old careless, thoughtless habits.

That must not happen now. We must regard every week as a fire prevention week. We must regard every day as a day in which to keep in mind the hazards that breed fire, and the means of eliminating them. Only if that is done, can fire, our ever-present foe, be beaten. The war against fire is a war for American safety in which every one of us can play an aggressive part.

SMARTER THAN NATURE

Mother Nature is very intelligent and efficient in a thousand ways. But more and more, man is learning to beat her at her own game. This is done by recombining substances and elements to make useful products.

A recent catalogue of such triumphs shows amazing progress, accelerating year by year. Our scientists, while they can't produce a woman chemically, are able now to equip her sartorially, from head to foot, with beautiful fabrics that Nature never dreamed of.

We are getting a growing flood of plastics replacing glass and wood. We have synthetic rubber, better for many purposes than the natural gum. We can clothe ourselves in coal, air and water. We have glass without silica, flame-proof and rust-proof substances that ignore old-fashioned Nature, products of a thousand kinds made directly from the elements better for their purposes than any which Nature has given us.

Things like wood, fiber, bone, rubber, leather, and so on, as a scientist observes, are not really "raw materials" but finished materials. We go back now to the elemental stuff of which such materials are composed, which exist in great abundance, and manipulate them in ways that result in better, cheaper and more useful things.

Modern civilized man can create more and more of the useful things he wants for his civilization. Most of the pretense of so-called "have-not" nations for more lands and raw materials is largely bunk. Nations civilized enough to make the means of fighting modern wars are also civilized enough to make nearly all the things they need, instead of killing other people to get them.

Thus wars of conquest are largely based on false pretenses. It is peace and more laboratories—not wars—that "have-not" nations need.

PLIGHT OF SMALL BUSINESS

The action of Joseph W. Martin, Minority House Leader in the National House of Representatives in appointing a committee of Republican congressmen to investigate the plight of small businessmen under the defense program is already bearing fruit. Following the appointment of this committee a resolution was introduced into Congress by Representative Patman, of Texas, calling for an investigation of the National Defense program and its relation to small business and the middlemen.

This is another step in the right direction and it is to be hoped that Congress sets up a committee of representative officials who will go into the matter thoroughly, as the small businessmen of the nation are in a serious plight and one which is getting more critical as the months pass. The awarding of contracts to big concerns, the cutting down of non-military production and the granting of priorities to those having the big contracts bids fair to ruin thousands of small businesses and throw hundreds of thousands of men and women out of employment.

The Patman resolution, admirable as it may be, even if it passes, will not cause the Republican Committee to ease up in its investigation. In fact this is already under way, and its findings ought to be of great interest and value to any official committee set up by Congress.

During the current House recess, members of the Small Business Defense Committee will make personal surveys in their respective regions, calling upon factory managers, interviewing workers thrown out of employment by priority orders, and weighing emergency remedies which may be applied quickly to relieve this kind of unemployment.

"This is one Congressional investigation that will not cost the government a dime," Congressman Halleck emphasized. "We have no appropriation. We shall work entirely on a basis of patriotism, seeking to offer practical and constructive proposals to hold dislocations to a minimum and keep the American system of private enterprise afloat during the critical period of the defense effort."

We learn, with mild surprise, that some federal employees in this country are now working more than half as long as Britons.

An educator urges greater "political interest" in students. Probably "governmental interest" is a better term.

The meek may inherit the earth some day, but apparently it will take a lot of work by tough guys to clear the way.

The question is, shall sea power control the lands or land power control the seas?

America's answer to the dictators is a declaration of national emergency. Buy Defense Savings Bonds and Stamps to build our defense.

THAT BODY OF YOURS

By James W. Barton, M.D.

(Registered in accordance with the Copyright Act)
 DELAYING OLD AGE

An employee of a large coal and wood company was called into the office one day and the president of the company said:

"Jack, today completes fifty years of service with us and the directors have asked me to do three things. First, I am presenting you with a gold watch suitably engraved telling of your long and faithful service. Second, I am presenting you with Five Hundred Dollars in cash. Third, I am instructed to inform you that your salary is to be paid regularly as before, but you need not report for work any more; you have done enough work for the company."

The employee replied, "I am taking the watch and the Five Hundred Dollars but I will be here at 8 o'clock tomorrow and every day thereafter."

This man's whole life was bound up in that company, his superiors, his fellow employees, customers and others whom he had met at his daily tasks. He knew that to tear himself away from this, which was his whole life, would be much harder on him than the physical work of the yard.

What happens to many individuals when they are pensioned, retired, superannuated? They lie in bed instead of getting up in the morning; their meals become irregular. Not getting a "good" or "regular" breakfast, they lose the regular intestinal habit (which regularity of arising and eating has established), and they become constipated. A common cause for this type of constipation is the sluggishness of the liver which now misses the "squeezings" it received when exercising was an everyday habit. With this sluggishness and constipation comes depression of spirits, which depression would not be present if they were mixing with others more.

Physicians who make the treatment of the old their special work (geriatricians as they are called) advise that the biggest factor in making old people get older sooner is letting them spend too much time in bed. This prevents regular exercise which heart, lungs and digestive systems need. It also makes them moody or melancholy as they have too much opportunity to be thinking inwardly. Getting about and meeting people and having a hobby, keeps body and mind active.

APPROACHING STORM

Stamps IN THE NEWS

By the AP Feature Service

Berne is the center of communication in Europe today. Diplomats, military attaches and spies are repeating activities of the World War when Berne was the "Listening Post of the World." So it is easy to see why Switzerland thinks Berne is worthy of a commemorative stamp on the year of its 750th birthday.

This stamp, in the value of 10 rappen, will be issued September 6 for sale at all Swiss post offices. It takes the place temporarily at least, of the regular 10 rappen. Officials expect it to sell out within two weeks. The stamp is in large format and three colors.

August 27 is the release date for the last of the new U. S. air mail series. The 20-cent stamp will have its first day sale at Philadelphia.

The Philatelic Journal of Great Britain explains that the reason for issuing low denomination of British stamps in lighter colors is to save dye. The Journal says also that the 2½-d value issued July 21 was on sale for a week but will not be sold again until the issues of darker colors are sold out.

Haiti, second largest island of the West Indies, has two new stamps of similar design. One is a light olive-green of 60 centimes, the other a 1.25 gourdes purple. The picture shows the Goddess of Liberty atop the map of Haiti which is included in an emblematic drawing of flags of this hemisphere. A plane is shown flying toward the Liberty torch. Inscription includes "LeCongres Interamerica des Caraibes Port-au-Prince." Also at the right of the Goddess is "Avion."

Bermuda has issued 30,000 copies of the regular three-pence stamp in blue and black, according to Philip Stanley Ingram, colonial postmaster. The old stamp like this was red and black.

Coffee For Two
 Memphis (AP) — Charles K. Chandler lifts his coffee-cup with his left hand because of an injured right arm, and at home the cup is always placed to the left of his plate. In a down-town dining room one day, Chandler absent-mindedly sipped coffee from the cup at his left. "It tasted exceptionally sweet and was disappearing unusually fast," he says.

"Then a young woman and I reached for the cup at the same time. 'We both had sweetened and drunk from the cup at my left—her cup!'"

Washington Daybook

By Jack Stinnett

(Sitting in for vacationing Jack Stinnett, Miss Arne has written a series on Washington's women reporters. This is the first of three articles.)

By SIGRID ARNE
 Washington — "Members and Press Only" is a forbidding sign which appears in two places in the capitol. One is beside a private elevator to the Senate floor and gallery. The other flanks an elevator to the House floor and gallery.

Newspaper men take that privilege absent-mindedly. But it is usually with a gulp that a woman reporter takes her first ride. It was "back in 1850" that the first woman writer sat in the Senate gallery. Now, 61 years later, women are still much in the minority. Of 542 persons admitted to the press galleries only 38 are women.

The women have every privilege the men enjoy, except the old "back room" gathering at the day's end when men cronies of press and Congress collect for a few "quick ones" and the low down. That could mean the women would miss stories but they get around it by more persistent use of the phone and feet. I've never heard a trained woman reporter complain that any government official "held out" just because she was a woman.

But women must disprove personally the adage, "Tell a woman, tell the world." Once they do, they get a special loyalty from their news contacts.

There are many ways of doing it, but here's an example from Ned Brunson Harris, one of the few women to have headed a metropolitan paper's Washington bureau.

American Aircraft Production Made Progress Because British Invested Cash in Our Plants

(By DAVID LAWRENCE)

Washington, Aug. 27.—Some day the historians will come across a headline "American Gold Saves Britain in 1941" and they will find it necessary in the interest of truthfulness to cross that out and write "British Gold Saves America."

This sounds like a paradox but the other day the country was amazed to read of testimony by two west coast aircraft manufacturers before the Senate Committee investigating defense to the effect that these manufacturers had actually lost money thus far on the aviation contracts placed with them by Uncle Sam. In getting at the reasons for this, it was discovered that America's aircraft production in which President Roosevelt expressed pride the other day in his controversy with Senator Byrd would never have been as far along as it is except for British cash invested in American plants and in American orders.

Certainly if America today has the beginnings of a substantial supply of aircraft and if in July 1942 we reach a desired goal, it is because Britain with her money made it possible within that time limit.

Back in 1939 when the war clouds were rising abroad the army and navy were asking for increased appropriations from congress for aircraft. Shortly before that the congress rejected a navy recommendation for fortification of Guam. In December 1939, even after the European war had broken out, the war department asked for money for several hundred airplanes for replacement. This would have given the American aircraft companies business to keep them going and expanding. But congress was indifferent and in April 1940 when the American plants were moving into production and fulfilling orders for huge production with money supplied by the French government, the House of Representatives authorized money for only 57 planes and the Senate moved it up by just nine more to the "enormous" total of 66 planes.

Later in the year congress came along with more orders but the American aircraft industry would have collapsed if it had waited for its own government. Instead it was being given funds for expansion by the British and the French. When in the summer of 1940 France surrendered, the British government promptly took over all the French contracts and guaranteed to pay for their fulfillment.

It is on the basis of these funds furnished by the British and earlier by the French that the American aircraft program today has gotten as far as it has. Experts estimate that except for the advance of millions of dollars by the British in 1940, the productive capacity of the aircraft industry would not be much more than half of what it is this year.

The same thing to a large extent is true in ordnance, machine tools and with other defense materials vitally needed by the British. The public presumably has the impression that the $7,000,000,000 of lend and lease funds are giving America and Britain their present aircraft program. This legislation, however, was not passed until early in 1941 and many of the aircraft companies are still working on British orders. The lend and lease money is just beginning to come into the aircraft picture.

Uncle Sam as a consequence of British funds is getting his aircraft plant at lower prices because the plant development and productive capacity which makes possible quantity production arose out of orders placed by the British and French governments with funds advanced generously against future delivery.

The cooperation of American officials in making the British and French program possible has been very important. No man in America deserves more credit than Secretary Morgenthau of the treasury department who at the risk of criticism cut red tape and steadfastly helped the British and French to get their production going. Since the lend and lease policy was adopted, Mr. Morgenthau has performed another service deeply appreciated by the aircraft industry. He has stood watch over the British funds deposited here so that these would not be committed in other directions in the haste of war operations. He has insisted that sufficient of the British securities put up as collateral in America be segregated to take care of the regular payments to American aircraft manufacturers.

In this way has a great industry been put on its feet, capable in another year or two of producing more aircraft than any combination of countries in the whole world. "Educational orders" for new types of planes would have been very helpful in 1938 and 1939 if Uncle Sam had provided them for the industry but the administration did not persuade Congress to appropriate the funds. Hence the record must show that the British and French in 1939 and the British alone in 1940 supplied what has been estimated at perhaps as much as $500,000,000 to build up American defense industries. And if aircraft win the war, it will be this half billion of British funds thrown into the breach at the psychological moment which has given Britain her chance for daylight bombing this year and which has given America her first major protection by aircraft in her whole history.

"AT CENTURY'S TURN"

By H. L. VAN DEUSEN

Kingston's Chamber of Commerce on April 27, 1920, announced that arrangements had been completed for L. Barth and Son, manufacturer of hotel supplies, to take over part of the former Campbell Motor car plant on Grand street. The Barth plant, it will be recalled, manufactured refrigerators and other hotel equipment.

It was also in April of that year that O. S. Hathaway purchased the Keeney Theatre on Wall street, which he had been operating under a lease. Mr. Hathaway owned the old Kingston Opera House and was leasing the Y. M. C. A. Auditorium for the display of movies.

Samuel D. Scudder, Jr., on May 1, 1920, became a partner in the old established jewelry house of C. H. Safford and Company on Wall street, and the firm name was changed to Safford and Scudder. The business is still being successfully carried on by Mr. Scudder.

I also recall that in May, 1920, "The Old Maids' Club" was presented in the Holy Cross parish house under the auspices of the degree team of the Atharhacton Rebekah lodge in this city.

Among those in the cast were Carolyn E. Gerlach, Mrs. Harry Cooper, Etta Carson, Lina Wolven, Marion Crane, Mrs. George Geisler, Gussie Kieffer, Mary Spencer, Frances Miller, Florence Humphrey, Elizabeth Schwenk, Mrs. Charles Young and Rose Fout.

The other day I recalled that the Kingston Club was incorporated in 1900, and in talking with David Burgevin, the uptown florist, who has been a member of the club for years, he recalled that the first social club uptown was the old Gold Club, which later became the Clinton Club, and then in the 30's the Kingston Club, which is still active and numbers some of the most prominent men of the city as members.

In May, 1920, the city purchased what was known as Fisher's Row, consisting of a number of small one-story buildings adjoining the Palen plant on Broadway. It was formerly the site of the old Kingston Carriage Company plant.

The property was bought for $18,000 as the city expected that the plan to eliminate the Broadway crossing of the West Shore railroad would be placed in effect that year, and the property was needed in order to widen Broadway.

As years passed and the crossing was not eliminated the city finally sold the property to private interests.

It was on May 2, 1920, that Jacob E. Derrenbacher, president of the Rondout Savings Bank, celebrated his fiftieth year as a banker. He had entered the employ of the banking house in May, 1870, and had various positions, until named president of the bank.

Literary Guide

By JOHN SELBY

"Last Man Around the World," by Stephen Longstreet:

How extraordinary is Stephen Longstreet's way with words! A good many men can write in a good many ways, but Mr. Longstreet is the only man I know who can write as the brown thrush can sing—and not, by the way, in the poetic sense.

I mean that words bubble out of the man like sounds out of a thrush's throat, and whether the words hook up into something pregnant with meaning, or merely bubble, I like them. So would most people who have not thought too long about themselves or something equally serious. The words bubble, they froth, they burn sometimes, and they entertain. It's quite a lot for words to do.

The point of all this is that Mr. Longstreet has done another book, not a novel but a travel book, of all things. He wrote a book and a successful novel called "Ducado," some time past, then he took the proceeds of the novel and bought himself a ticket round the world on a ship he calls the Queen Bee.

He did not know it at the time, but it was the last of the luxury cruises, sailing around the world just before the globe split wide open. The cruise began with some monkey business in Haiti and a little later in England and her continental neighbors. It ended in a motor trip across the United States. Between, there was a lot of hell raising, a certain amount of serious thought, and many people. The people are best.

They are the people you see on such boats, running true to type, which is to say running a little wild some of the time. People like Big Boy, who was dodging a show-girl wife by trying to stay under the surface of a whiskey and soda until she got tired watching. Or the Dutchman, the cynical Pamela, or the man who proved the earth was flat.

These may seem something less than the most promising material for 300-odd pages of type, but they are perfect, as Mr. Longstreet uses them. He even makes a Haitian voodoo session seem reasonable, fresh and a little chill-making, which is one all-time high in writing ability. Lastly, all the people in the book talk the same way, which is a blessing, because they are all Longstreet. Every one of them.

'East Lynne' Next On Maverick Bill

Student Group to Finish
Season With Old Hit

The audiences at the Maverick Theatre, Woodstock, this week are invited to come in costume and hiss the villain at "East Lynne," the play Cecil Clovelly has slated for the Labor Day week-end.

The famous old classic so beloved by our great-grandparents and wept and laughed over by succeeding generations, will be the final presentation at the Maverick, showing for four days, Friday, through Labor Day.

Mrs. Henry Wood's great play which took the theatre-world by storm in 1863 and was spontaneously acclaimed in dramatic triumph, has lived through styles. Today, by playing it as sincerely as the author intended, it becomes a rip-roaring comedy simply because of the "asides" to the audience and the change in viewpoint that the years have produced.

The hiss-provoking Sir Francis Levison with his black moustache and foppish clothes will be played by Don Haggerty in his most beguiling villainous manner. Sally Green will lend her beauty to the part of the Lady Isabel, patrician purity betrayed; Michael Barrett out-heroes all the heroes of stage and story as the unbelievably noble Archibald; Sheba Wilson will be seen as Archibald's old-maid sister, Miss Corney, cold and jealous. Emily McNair, Dorothea Rockwell and Francis Richards will play the gossiping servants and Margaret Phillips will be the perfect ingenue, sweet and true. Griff Evans will be the innocent fugitive from justice and Grace Denby, the long-suffering little Willy. Jack Woods as Mr. Dill will emote in the traditional manner of the best "meller" dramas.

(By The Associated Press)

Unfair Warfare

Rockingham, N. C. — The First Battalion of the 41st Engineers didn't think so well of the Second Battalion today.

On small-scale maneuvers, the First Battalion rode in trucks almost to the place where it was ordered to attack the hike-weary Second Battalion.

But the Second Battalion didn't wait for the attack. It marched in a wide flanking movement, captured its opponents' trucks, including the kitchen, and rode back to camp.

The First Battalion hiked the nine miles back.

Defense Victims

Richmond, Va. — Richmond barbers, who voted to increase their standard price for haircuts from 40 to 50 cents to meet increased living costs, were told by their attorney, Benjamin Lovenstein, that they were "suffering from national defense more than any other trade."

"People are working so hard and trying to make so much money they don't have time to get haircuts as often as they used to," he said.

One Way

St. Louis, Mo. — A 13-month furniture company strike is over—without a settlement—and everybody's happy.

Explained a C. I. O. union spokesman: The strikers and picketers found other jobs at better salaries.

Ought to Win Something

Dallas, Tex.—F. D. Whiting of Oklahoma City timed his plane for a 23-second flight in the southwest model tournament.

It disappeared in a rain cloud and landed two days later at Lake Creek, Tex., 100 mile away.

And That's That!

De Moines — The State of Iowa, it appears, won't get the arithmetic text-book Vice President Henry A. Wallace studied on a De Moines grade school.

Miss Barbara Beller, 9, received the book from her father, a close friend of the Wallace family, and says she means to keep it despite a state resolution authorizing its purchase.

A Laughing Matter

Lord Halifax's Favorite Story

A tilted English grand dame offered her luxurious town house to homeless mothers and children just after the first disastrous Nazi air raids on the London dock sections. The offer was accepted promptly by five mothers with a total of ten children.

The lady tried hard not to show it but really felt extremely magnanimous about opening her splendid home. When the refugee guests arrived she met them in the great hall, helped them settle their bags and wraps, and then started with them on a tour of the house.

Arriving at the first floor conservatory in the rear, she pointed out a window toward great green lawns and, over the trees, towering gray turrets.

"What's that turrets, me lady? asked one of the mothers. "That's Buckingham Palace, just beyond the park."

"Buckinam, is it? It's a dingerous place like this they gave us, is it? We won't stay."

And without another word the entire group tramped back to the "safer" docks section.

MADE UP TO KILL

Chapter 27

"I Know Lee Gray"

EVIDENTLY Jeff had learned all he wanted to. He got up, chucking Tommy on the shoulder with his fist. "So long, Tom. And thanks. A lot."

Out on the sidewalk again, walking toward Seventh Avenue, I had trouble keeping up with Jeff.

"Where are we going?" I asked. He didn't answer. "Jeff, remember me! I'm the girl you're going to marry."

"Yeah, when I solve this more than slight case of murder."

He stopped, turned and started in the opposite direction. "Haila, I'm leaving you here."

"Why?"

"You can't walk fast enough."

"Walk fast enough where?"

"Look, I'll meet you at your place in about an hour. Keep your car there till then if you can."

He stepped off the curb and started across Sixth Avenue. I watched him thread his way through the traffic tie-up and then, bunching my collar around my neck with one hand and holding tight to the brim of my felt hat with the other, I elbowed my way to Fifth Avenue and started up it.

It had been a two-faced day, warm and bright, with the smell of April in the air, and now, suddenly, it had pulled itself together with the coming of night and gone back to being November with a vengeance. The wind, swirling down the wide street, took sizable nips through my thin tweed coat and I lost no time making it to the sheltering canyon of Fifty-fourth Street.

There was a knot of men in front of my apartment building, two in uniforms of the city's finest, the others wearing the glum mask that is apparently a requisite for plain-clothes men. I caught a glimpse of Peterson in deep conversation with the photographer whose equipment lay on the step at his feet.

I said, "Hi, fellahs." As I walked past the men and went into the lobby where the boy who relieved Jinx on the day shift, a sad, morose-faced boy, took me up.

The apartment was in complete darkness and I reached for the switch and snapped on the ceiling lights. Then, quickly, I turned them off again and felt my way around in the blackness, pulling down the blinds. I had no desire to be a target for any guests of the Esquador Hotel.

I locked and bolted the door and wriggled the knob experimentally, in spite of the two detectives stationed outside, and then lit the table lamp. Over the yellow shade I saw Carol watching me from the bedroom door. She had been crying and the powder she had smeared over her face in a gallant effort to hide the tearstains was streaked and pathetic. She must have seen all my precautionary measures for there was alarm in her eyes.

"Peeping Toms," I explained glibly, pointing to the drawn shades. I sat on the couch and lit a cigarette, resolving to do my darndest to drive the thought of murder out of her mind for a little while at least. "Darling, I think it's swell about you and Steve. In fact, I..."

"Oh, Haila, keep your fingers crossed! Steve's telling his mother about me... about us, Steve and me."

"She'll say yes or I'll mow her down."

"Oh, if she doesn't I... I don't know what I'll do. I won't be able to stand it! He should be back soon."

"If she says no, will that mean that Steve won't...?"

"Marry me? I wouldn't let him. I couldn't. I've caused Steve enough trouble. I..." She moved restlessly about the room, stopping at last to curl up on the couch beside me. "Haila..."

"What, Carol?"

"Haila, I'm leaving here. Tomorrow."

"Leaving here? Why?"

"I'm going to a hotel. I have some money now, my check for Green Apples, and if I need more Steve will let me have it. I won't like that, but I guess it's an emergency."

"I guess it is, but you're not leaving."

"I've got to, Haila. I'll just be until Steve and I are married. If we do," she added and I could almost hear her breathe a silent prayer. "Oh, I know it's wrong of me, things being the way they are, but I wish we could get married tomorrow."

"Well, whenever the wedding is, you're staying here until it. I won't have you going to a hotel."

For a moment she didn't answer, then she said softly, "I'm afraid to stay here."

"But you're safer than in a hotel. Steve and Jeff and I..."

"I don't mean that. I'm not afraid for myself. I'm afraid for you. Haila, when these things first began to happen I was so terrified and sort of numb about it all that I... I was thoughtless and selfish. It never dawned on me how I was dragging you into this mess just by living here at your place. And you were so swell about it. I just... well, I just took it for granted."

"Carol, don't be silly."

"And then, at first, everything was happening at the theater and I didn't think there was any danger here. Then today... that shot, Haila, that bullet could have hit you! You might be dead now and all because I... because of me."

"So that's why you're going?"

"I don't want to have happen to you," she said, her words scarcely audible, "what happened to Eve North. I'm all packed. I'll leave in the morning."

"Well, go in and unpack. You're not leaving here until you're Mrs. Stephen Brown. I won't have it. I'm in no danger, Carol. Why, that bullet didn't come within a mile of me. And there won't be any more bullets either."

I put my arm around her shoulders. "Stop worrying, Butch. We'll see this thing through somehow. Now let's have no more of this small talk. Let's discuss something really momentous, such as, is there anything to eat in the house beside beans?"

Husband-To-Be

THERE WAS A knock at the door and Steve was in the room. He didn't have to say a word, success glowed in his face. He took Carol in his arms but he was too excited to be affectionate; he had to talk. "We're going to be married! I'm going to be a husband! Look, look at me, I'm going to be a husband!"

"Oh, Steve!"

"You should have seen your mother-in-law's face when I told her, darling. She couldn't speak, she was speechless! Boy, I thought it was... I thought her silence was foreboding, but I had just struck the old lady dumb. I knocked her for a loop! When I left she was going to bed!"

Steve dropped into a chair and immediately jumped up. "I told her about you, about this, about everything, Carol. And Mother said—his voice started to dance—"somebody should marry the poor little thing and take care of her!"

"But, Steve, that doesn't mean anything!" Carol's voice was tremulous.

"I showed her your picture and you're going home with me this week end at Mother's command. It's in the bag. Mother never lets anyone in our house that ain't fit to marry."

"But she didn't say yes, Steve."

"She knows you're in the theater and she didn't say no! And when Dad sees you! Stop worrying."

He kissed her. I turned my back and started to play he-loves-me-he-loves-me-not on an old cactus plant.

"Out!" I said. Carol and Steve laughed politely. I got it. Cupid didn't want to blow his whistle in my ear. I went into the kitchen and played with the pots and pans.

Jeff's greeting to Steve and Carol brought me back into the living room ten or fifteen minutes later at a gallop. He was already at the telephone. "Hello, has Peterson come in yet? This is Jeff Troy, he'll talk to me. It's important, something on the Colony case... Thanks, I'll hang on."

Steve and I fired excited questions at Jeff but he was connected with Peterson almost immediately. "Hello, this is Troy. I've been trying to get you every five minutes for the last half hour... Listen, Peterson, could you locate Greeley Morris and bring him in to Haila's apartment?... I'm not asking you to run errands for me! This is important! I've got something I'll tell you when you get here with Morris... I'm not withholding evidence! When I tell you what I know, you'll want Morris. I'm saving you time, that's all... He isn't at his hotel; I've just come from there... All right, I'll tell you! I know who Lee Gray is! I've found her!"

"Jeff!" I shouted.

"Please!" Jeff said. He turned back to the telephone. "You get Morris up here. Mr. Peterson, and I'll tell you. He hung up and took off his hat and coat."

"Well, Jeff?" I asked impatiently.

"Maybe I shouldn't tell you till Peterson gets here."

"Maybe you shouldn't, but you're going to."

"Okay, relax."

Steve leaned forward in his chair, waiting. I leaned back. Carol was staring at Jeff, her lips slightly parted, her hands clenched at her sides. None of us spoke. Jeff lit a cigarette with maddening care.

"Lee Gray is an actress and her name on the stage is Leila Gray. Ever hear of her, any of you? No? Well, she's not very well known. So far as I can find out she's only appeared in one play and then for only a couple of weeks. It was a tryout in England. In Manchester, to be exact. The play was Green Apples."

Steve said sharply. "Green Apples! But then, Greeley Morris would have known her. I understood..."

Army Ordnance Condemns Strikes

Association Also Asks for Single Administrative Head for Armaments

Washington, Aug. 27 (AP)—The Army Ordnance Association, a semi-official body, today condemned strikes for a "disgraceful blot" on the record of defense progress and listed as a companion debit the lack of a single administrative head for armaments production.

On the subject of defense strikes, the association asserted flatly: "They should be outlawed once and for all in order that the vast majority of willing hands may do their share in defense production."

The ordnance organization also found reason to deplore the delay in fixing "a ceiling on all prices"—a delay which it said "has added millions to the cost of national defense and points the way to monetary inflation which may defeat the very purpose of the defense effort."

The opinions of the association were set forth in an editorial analysis of the accomplishments and defects of the defense effort which appears in the current issue of the organization's journal, Army Ordnance.

If the association found much to criticize in the defense effort, it also found much to praise, asserting that the "end of M-year (mobilization year) discloses military armament production gaining momentum."

"Soon they will be in high gear," the editorial reported.

"After that, God help the transgressor of the American way!"

Pertinent Facts On Conscription

With the release from Washington of an announcement that plans would be put into effect to care for the reemployment of discharged trainees, Brigadier General Ames T. Brown, New York State Director of Selective Service, stated today an effective and practical plan for returning discharges to industry has been placed in operation in this state.

Contrary to reports in the press, the national program anticipates particular state projects designed to fit the needs of the area. In turn and due to the dense population of New York city, the re-employment program for that city will, in some degree, vary from that designed for upstate New York.

General Brown stated the principal factor in carrying out the re-employment program would be the Registrants' Advisory Boards one of which exists for each local board in the state. Rather than add to the work of the local boards, or create a new member for such units, General Brown has appointed the Registrants' Advisory Boards to serve as the re-employment committees mentioned in the plan from Washington. The work of these boards will be directed by the Re-employment Section of State Headquarters and the re-employment program will gain from the experience the boards have had in advising registrants.

The primary purpose of the New York state program will be to place discharges in former jobs, or in positions of a similar character, and to find work for discharges who were not employed at the time of induction. This effort will be implemented by a provision of the Selective Training and Service Act of 1940 which reads:

"In the case of any such person who, in order to perform such training and service, has left or leaves a position, other than a temporary position, in the employ of any employer and who (1) receives such certificate (of satisfactory service in the Army), (2) is still qualified to perform the duties of such position, and (3) makes application for re-employment within 40 days after he is relieved from such training and service . . . (B) if such position was in the employ of a private employer, such employer shall re-store such person to such position or to a position of like seniority, status, and pay unless the employer's circumstances have so changed as to make it impossible or unreasonable to do so."

"The New York state program requires," General Brown said, "the Army to send to State Headquarters records with pertinent information as to the work record and qualifications of the trainee. This the Army has agreed to do. These cards will be distributed by State Headquarters to the appropriate Registrants' Advisory Boards which will undertake to secure employment for prospective discharges at the time of discharge. When boards are unable to secure such employment they will not only continue their efforts but will enlist the assistance of the New York State Employment Service."

General Brown said the re-employment program should go a long way toward increasing Army morale as correspondence with the Registrants' Advisory Boards will indicate to trainees that something is being done to provide for employment at discharge.

Young Confers With Dairymen

Purpose of Meeting Was Not Announced

Van Hornesville, N. Y., Aug. 27 (AP)—Owen D. Young, retired industrialist, conferred today with representatives of 55,000 dairymen serving the New York city market who have requested the Federal-State Marketing Authority to boost the fluid price from $2.88 a hundredweight (47 quarts) to $3.82.

Purpose of the meeting at Young's dairy farm here was not announced. It followed a discussion at Washington yesterday by Young, New York State Milk Control Director Kenneth F. Fee and Agriculture Secretary Wickard on ways of alleviating conditions in the milkshed caused by drought and labor shortages.

The petition signed and submitted to federal-state authorities by spokesmen of five major dairy groups asked a fluid price designed to bring producers a blended price for all milk of about $3 a hundredweight. This was the price demanded by the Dairy Farmers Union in sponsoring an eight-day milk strike in July. Subsequently, hearings were held on proposed amendments to the order and Wickard is expected to call a referendum shortly.

At the hearings, dairymen requested an early referendum so that the increased returns would become effective September 1. The groups represented at the conference today include the Metropolitan Cooperative Milk Producers' Bargaining Agency, Dairy Farmers Union, Associated Independents, Dairymen's League and Eastern Milk Producers' Cooperative Association.

During the storm, which pitched the city suddenly into inky blackness, 179 fire alarms were sounded and the fire department received 235 calls requesting pumps to free the cellars of houses and business buildings of water.

A heavy windstorm also mopped a five-mile path 40 miles through Sullivan county, temporarily disrupting utility services, uprooting many trees and causing other damage.

Shultis Reports City Places Clean

Restaurants Maintaining Praiseworthy Standard

Places serving food in the city are maintaining a high sanitary standard according to a report made last evening by Sanitary Inspector Charles W. Shultis. Mr. Shultis filed a report with the local Board of Health at its regular monthly meeting showing the result of his inspection of the eating places in the city during the past several months.

Inspector Shultis, in reply to questions by the health board members, said that the proprietors of the local restaurants had shown willingness to co-operate and that in a few cases where he found glasses and dishes not thoroughly cleaned the situation had been quickly remedied by the proprietor.

The sanitary inspector said that the city laboratory had supplied him with the necessary equipment needed to take the bacteria count and that tests in each eating place had been made of a coffee cup, drinking glass, dinner plate, pie plate, tea spoon, and the water in which dishes, glasses and cutlery were cleaned after being used.

The report was ordered filed. Brazil shipped nearly 135,000,000 pounds of coffee to other countries in a recent month.

Black Bear Is Seen Visiting Hurley

The black bear which has been seen on a number of occasions in the vicinity of Hurley was again seen a couple of mornings since accompanied by a cub.

George H. Brooks, who with Mrs. Brooks has been spending the summer at their home at Hurley, heard their Scotch terrier barking excitedly in the woods back of the house, Monday morning. He finally went out to see what all the excitement was about and had gone but a short distance when he came upon the bear, which stood looking at him about 100 feet away. Nearby, in a tree, was a young cub.

Mr. Brooks says that last winter, on two occasions, he heard a racket around an incinerator in the yard and on investigating found a bear nosing around the incinerator.

Boxer Known Here Involved in Fatal Albany Stabbing

District Attorney John T. Delaney of Albany county announced last night that Charles Forezzi of 19 Delaware street, Albany, widely known in Albany and Kingston pugilistic circles, faces a charge of second degree murder in connection with the fatal stabbing Sunday night of Jerome Rovelli, 31, of 10 Myrtle avenue, Albany.

Delaney said that there had been ill feeling between Forezzi and Rovelli, and that the two agreed to meet Sunday night in a fist fight to settle their differences. Jerome Rovelli and Anthony Forezzi, he added, went along to act as seconds.

It is alleged that after the fist fight had been in progress for a short time that Forezzi kicked Rovelli and as the latter went back at him, Charles, it is claimed, drew a knife.

Forezzi is well known in sport circles in Kingston and had fought a number of the main boxing bouts in the municipal auditorium.

Plan of Action Drafted Against Gas Rationing

Washington, Aug. 27 (AP)—A plan of action against gasoline profiteering was drafted by the government today, and tomorrow a Senate investigating committee proposes to begin finding out whether the reported eastern oil shortage is supported by facts.

Leon Henderson, price administrator, indicated he would proclaim forthwith a ceiling for motor fuel prices, to protect the 10,000,000 Atlantic seaboard motorists against unwarranted price increases.

Secretary Ickes, the defense petroleum coordinator, was called as the first witness before a special sub-committee of the Senate commerce committee, set up yesterday after Senator Maloney (D-Conn.) had said he wanted to find out "if there is an actual shortage or if we are being pushed around for psychological reasons."

Ickes, however, was vacationing in the west, and it was expected Ralph K. Davies, acting coordinator, would appear in his stead. Davies declared last night that the inquiry "will serve as a means for enlightening the public as to the conditions we face."

President Roosevelt, at his press conference yesterday forecast that the problem of supplying the east with oil would be eased substantially by spring, through launching of new tankers and by building of two pipelines from the southwest to the eastern seaboard.

Dog-Eared Visiting Cards

Nearly all of the many visitors who have been leaving their cards on young Mrs. Newhouse, have either dog-eared or bent them. She asks what these different bendings mean? She also asks why a dog-eared card is considered less ugly than a dog-eared book?

Answering the last question first, a completely bent-over card that shows a crack when it is straightened out, is ugly. It is not as ugly as a dog-eared book, because the broken corner of the page is a permanent blemish, whereas the card is soon thrown away. The proper way to bend a card is to do it lightly either in the middle, or across a corner, but not so sharply as to make a dog-eared. The original reason for bending cards, (no matter where or how) was merely to show that they were not sent in an envelope by mail, but were left at the door by hand. Another meaning, when one card is left at the house of a family which includes more than one lady, it means, "for all of the ladies" who live there. An extra card should be left on a visitor.

The Favor Of A Reply Is Requested

Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please advise the correct way to include R.S.V.P. on an invitation? That is, should all the letters be in capitals, or only the first letters in capitals, and why?

Answer: R.S.V.P. and R. s.v.p. are equally correct. For a long time, R. s.v.p. was the more fashionable, but at the moment, I should say that capitals are used more often than not. I prefer, the "R.S.V.P." because I think the capitals look over-trimmed, excepting on a very large, and impersonal invitation, particularly an official one.

Sending A Young Boy A Present

Dear Mrs. Post: What would be suitable to send an 8-year-old boy, who is playing in a musical recital? I am the boy's aunt, and very fond of him.

Answer: Even though he is only 8 years old, it will be entirely proper to have flowers handed to him at the close of his performance. In other words, a basket of flowers is visible applause. You can, of course, give him anything after the performance, which you know he would like to have. It is just a question of whether you want to make your applause public, or want to give him a lasting present—or it may be that you will do both.

Too Big for Smart Fall Styles?

Needed—a much larger size dress! How ever did she gain so shockingly in one summer?

Though you may think you eat lightly in summer, even "peckish" meals can fatten you if they're high-calorie dishes. So do an about-face, go on a low-calorie diet! On good meals you lose two pounds a week!

Instead of beef pie (400 calories) choose beef loaf (150). When you MUST nibble, switch from chocolate sundaes (400 each) to a juicy bunch of Concord grapes (100).

The difference in calories quickly shows itself in your figure. For every 4,000 calories you took that you didn't need, you gained a pound. Now, cutting your calories to 1,200 a day for a while, you're short on calories. When your body wants 4,000 of them it "burns up" a pound.

You don't lose pep in this process, for your low-calorie diet has lots of vitamin-rich dishes. Orange juice is only 100 calories a cup, an egg 70, string beans 45. In our 32-page booklet is a calorie chart to guide you while dieting, 42 get-slim menus, 3-day liquid diet to start reducing. Has recipes for slimming desserts.

Send 10 cents in coin for your copy of "The New Way to a Youthful Figure" to The Kingston Daily Freeman, Home Service, 635 Sixth Ave., New York, N. Y. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, and the name of booklet.

Billy Ostrom on Mound Tonight Against Kansas City Monarchs

Satchel Paige Is Scheduled to Hurl For Three Innings

Rees Seek Fourth Straight at Stadium; Coleman Is Back on First; Game at 8:30 P. M.

An early morning sun greeted Manager Joe Hoffman and his Kingston Recreation today as the club looked forward to tonight's stellar attraction with the Kansas City Monarchs and the great Satchel Paige at municipal stadium. Game time has been listed for 8:30 o'clock.

With the weather conditions favoring the Recreation for this big game officials of the club anticipate a crowd of 3,000 or more at the uptown ball park. Last week an S. R. O. crowd watched the Rees humble the famous Bushwicks despite a cloudy day and some rain. Now the Rees have a perfect day and the turnout, by game time, might reach even 4,000.

Manager Hoffman, set on trimming another vaunted road club, will send his No. 1 flinger of the squad, Billy Ostrom, the Poughkeepsie ace, to the hill tonight to match wits with Satchel Paige for three innings and probably Fort Smith in the next six. Paige is scheduled to hurl three innings.

Local Have Chance
Ostrom gained his greatest triumph of his young career last week in blanking the powerful Bushwicks. Now, the young star gets another opportunity to "bring home the bacon." With Ostrom in good shape, the Recreation are conceded a fair chance to trip the Monarchs.

The Kansas City Monarchs march into Kingston tonight with about the strongest lineup of Negro players any team could have. In addition to the great "Satchel-foot" the Monarchs have a number of other great flingers in Hilton Smith, Bill Bradley, Lefty Bryant, Ace Johnson and Fort Smith. Smith recently blanked the Chicago American Giants 1-0 and the Baltimore Elites 3-0 which gives a little idea of his pitching performances for the Monarchs.

Not only are the Monarchs a great pitching team but also a tough club with powerful sluggers from the first man down to the pitcher. In Chicago recently, Willard Brown, who will be in centerfield for Kansas City tonight, poked out four consecutive homers. Brown's outfield mate is Ted Strong who has been a member of the West team in the annual East-West Negro classic for the past four years.

The Recreation enter this game on a three game winning spurt and six out of their last seven games. A 2 to 2 defeat at the hands of the House of David has been the lone defeat suffered by the Rees in the seven tilts.

After Billy Ostrom lost that 5 to 4 game to the Philadelphia Stars, the Recreation defeated the Albany Enclaves 6-5. Paterson, 11-0, Bronx Giants 10 to 3, then the loss to the Davids, 6-2; the Bushwicks 5-0, the Fullers 5 to 2 and Stroudsburg by 2-1. All in all, the streak represents a very noteworthy bit of action for the Rees who have met the best of opposition this summer.

The locals will be at full strength tonight, the first since the Bushwick thriller. Ralph Coleman of Nyack, the clever and hard-hitting first sacker, will be back at his post to round out the infield of Seabo, Van Herper and Yanni. All three have been playing sensational ball to date.

Following are the lineups:
Monarchs
Allen, 3b
O'Neil, 1b
Strong, rf
Brown, cf
Greene, c

Bibbs, 2b

History in the Making
July 4 league-leaders have won the National League pennant 25 times in the past 40 years, 62½%.

If the Pittsburgh Pirates win the 1941 flag it will use a much heavier percentage handicap than that. Only twice in those 40 years has a second division club, as of Independence Day, crashed the lough to the confalon, the Boston Braves of 1914, who were in last place when the fire-crackers cracked 27 years ago, and the 1936 Giants, who were running 5th rounding the 7/4 turn. A. D. 1941 the Frank-Jeffriesmen stood 5th on the 4th, 14½ games behind the league-leading Brooklyn Dodgers.

Dodgers Appear to Have Edge Over Cardinals in Remaining League Games

Flatbush Gang Still Has 1½ Game Margin Over Redbirds; Errors Help Cards Win

(By The Associated Press)
Brooklyn's beloved bums have met the enemy and although they didn't conquer, neither were they conquered.

It had been apparent that the Dodgers and their fierce foes, the St. Louis Cardinals, were very evenly matched even before they came up to their crucial double-game series at Brooklyn this week and everything that was done in their two doubleheaders served to emphasize this fact.

Brooklyn looked like a whirlwind in winning yesterday's opening, 8-3, and then subsided into a zephyr before the magnificent pitching of Mort Cooper in losing the eight-inning nightcap, 3-1.

However, the series was not quite as much of a stalemate as the scores would indicate, because the Dodgers came out with their 1½ game lead intact and seemed to have an edge in the remaining schedule.

After meeting the sizzling Cincinnati Reds tonight at Ebbets Field, Brooklyn will have 30 contests left to play. Ten of them, including three at St. Louis, are against the western clubs, and all the others are against the second-division eastern group—no less than nine with the last-place Phillies, who have beaten Brooklyn only once this season.

Miss Two Fielders
The Cardinals without Terry Moore and Enos Slaughter in the outfield did not look like the same club and except for Cooper's great pitching and a fielding breakdown by Peeewe Reese of the Dodgers in yesterday's nightcap, St. Louis would have been routed.

Brooklyn made a dozen hits off four pitchers in the first tilt. Six were for extra bases and all of them except two home runs might have been held to singles by good fielding. Curt Davis pitched an effective seven-inning and smacked his second circuit ball of the season. Dolph Camilli blasted his 26th.

Don Padgett and Johnny Mize made six of St. Louis' hits and produced all the Cards' runs, two on Mize's 14th homer.

Cooper pitched a seven-hitter in the nightcap and would have had a shutout except for another homer by Camilli in the eighth inning. Cooper was matched for six scoreless innings by 40-year-old Fred Fitzsimmons, but in the seventh Reese made two consecutive errors at shortstop and Johnny Hopp, who had been held hitless all day, doubled to score both runners.

The doubleheader drew a crowd of 39,107, 5,000 more than the park could hold.

Because of Monday's rain, all the National League contests were doubleheaders. The world champion Reds split with the New York Giants, Pittsburgh divided at Boston, and the Chicago Cubs captured two from the Phillies.

The Giants beat Buckie Walters, 7-4, then had the Reds retaliate with a 5-4 decision on six-hit hurling by Junior Thompson.

Tobin Beats Ex-Mates
Jim Tobin, using his newly-developed knuckleball, pitched a four-hit game to stop the Pirates, 4-3, and Max Butcher came back with a six-hitter to win the nightcap, 6-1.

The Cubs collected three home runs for a 5-4 victory, then romped to an 11-3 triumph in the afterpiece with Dom Dallessandro

FREE RIDE FOR REESE

Brooklyn Shortstop Peeewe Reese (1) hopped over the back of Cardinal Don Padgett in an attempt to catch the latter off second base in the fourth inning of the second game of a double-header at Brooklyn. Padgett was safe as Dodger Catcher Herman Frank's throw was wide. The Dodgers lost the game, 3 to 1, after winning the opener, 8 to 3.

Goodman Offers Advice to Golfers At Omaha Tourney

Winner of '37 Title Tells Championship Seekers to Start Shooting for Par Totals

Omaha, Aug. 27 (AP)—If these high-scoring national amateur golf championship seekers will take a tip from Omaha's own Johnny Goodman, they'll start shooting for pars instead of birdies.

That was Johnny's advice today as 64 qualifiers for match play in the 45th amateur, none too successful in their medal-play battles with the field club's stubborn par-72, turned to personal engagements, with two 18-hole rounds on the "Black Wednesday" program.

Goodman, who wants to regain the title he won in 1937, credited unusually high qualifying scores, particularly on the back nine, to the fact the strangers to the field club's deceptive contours and distances were playing too boldly.

"The boys are aiming for birdies instead of being content with pars," said the former champion, who qualified himself with steady rounds of 73 and 75, four shots off Skip Alexander's medal-winning pace.

"They're shooting for the pins all the time, rather than playing safe simply to hit the green. And that's dangerous because of the speed of our greens and the trouble you can get into if you once roll off them."

They were doing that yesterday when the final 18 holes of the 36-hole qualifying test produced some of the highest scoring in the history of the tournament. Ten players with 159's had to play off for the last seven match-play places, compared with a limit of 155 at Winged Foot a year ago.

Mealey's Message On Conservation Of Gas in City

Carroll E. Mealey, state gasoline conservator, and head of the state motor bureau, has forwarded the following communication to Mayor C. J. Heiselman in regard to conservation of gas in Kingston:

"You are aware, of course, of the critical situation which has developed with respect to gasoline supplies in the eastern United States, including New York state.

"As state gasoline conservator, I find it necessary to ask the co-operation of all public officials in conserving motor fuel.

"I am confident, from past experience, that I may count on the support of the mayors of the state to give every assistance in this emergency.

"Various suggestions for the curtailment of gasoline consumption will be made from time to time and you may be certain that your assistance will be fully appreciated.

"At this time, I should like to offer two suggestions:

"1—If you have not already done so, will you please request all employees of your city to reduce voluntarily their gasoline purchases by one-third, and at the same time direct the use of municipal vehicles in such a manner that no motor fuel will be used unnecessarily?

"2—Will you, also, discourage the staging of automobile and so-called jalopy races in your city during the period of the motor fuel shortage?

"It is suggested that publicity be given your action on these suggestions for the purpose of lending the influence of your office to the campaign for gasoline conservation. It is clear that the general public does not fully appreciate the seriousness of the situation and if action on your part will help in overcoming public apathy, you will have contributed in a very material way to the solution of the problem."

Threat of 'Phone Tie-up Averted

Wage Increase Included in Settlement Terms

(By The Associated Press)

The threat of a national telephone tie-up was averted today by settlement of a dispute between union installation men and the Western Electric Company.

Dr. John R. Steelman, director of the U. S. Conciliation Service, won an understanding between the disputants after 61 hours of nearly constant negotiations.

Chief terms of the settlement were: A blanket wage increase of six cents an hour for about 9,000 employees; national recognition of the union as bargaining agent;
new seniority provisions; an arbitration agreement, and the right on the part of the union to reopen the wage discussions March 1, 1942, if it sees fit to do so.

The Western Electric employes work in all sections of the country and were represented by the Association of Communications equipment Workers, an independent union.

The wage increase is retroactive to July 29, and is coupled with a wage progression agreement. Company officials estimated the total additional cost to the firm at $1-500,000 a year. The current wage scale was not disclosed.

The union had issued a tentative strike call for mid-August, but the proposed walkout was held in abeyance at the request of the conciliation service while negotiations proceeded.

New Strike Threat

A new strike threat arose meanwhile at the Du Pont chemical plant at Belle, W. Va. A committee of C. I. O. employes there voted to strike September 4 unless the company agrees to a collective bargaining election. The C. I. O. claims 3,000 of the plant's 4,300 employees.

Five foremen at the strike-bound Titanium Pigment plant of the National Lead Company at St. Louis, Mo., were forced to forage for food in the plant cafeteria. Since Saturday night the foremen, assigned to guard the property, have not ventured out for fear that C. I. O. pickets would not permit them to re-enter.

The pickets have turned back a truck which carried food and bedding intended for the stranded five.

The union is striking for recognition as collective bargaining agent.

The Federal Shipbuilding and Dry Dock yards at Kearny, N. J., hummed again, with the navy in charge after a 19-day C. I. O. strike. Under Rear Admiral Harold G. Bowen, the new boss, 17-000 men worked to complete $493-
000,000 of vital ship construction.

No action has been taken on the offer of L. H. Korndorff, company president, to sell the entire busi-

Violation of Federal Espionage Act Charged

Spokane, Wash., Aug. 27 (AP)— Kurt Frederick Ludwig, accused by the government in a New York indictment of violating the federal espionage act, was in the Spokane county jail today in lieu of $50,000 bond, awaiting a preliminary hearing for September 11.

Trained across the country by the Federal Bureau of Investigation, Ludwig was plucked from a westbound motor bus Saturday and brought here yesterday for arraignment. He pleaded innocent to a charge of being a fugitive from justice.

District Attorney Lyle Keith said the complaint against Ludwig carried a double-barreled charge—unlawfully using the mails in violation of the act and the transmission of matter vital to national defense. He said the maximum penalty was 5 years and a fine of $5,000 on the first count and 20 years on the second.

The attorney said Ludwig claimed United States citizenship but had spent most of his life in Germany, returning to this country in 1940.

Progress Shown on Disposal Plant

Freeman Photo

The above view of the site of the city's new sewage disposal plant now under construction at a W. P. A. project on the site of the old railroad shops of the former Ulster & Delaware railroad on East Strand, was taken from the high road. The photograph shows that foundations for some of the sewage disposal buildings have been laid, while in the foreground is shown the steel pipe to be used. Work is also progressing on the laying of the new intercepting sewer which will convey the sewage to the disposal plant. It is expected that it will take approximately one year in which to complete the project.
